and effectiveness of the Board is as a unit; that the majority decisions of the Board shall be supported even when personally opposed; and that a single Board member has no authority to act on behalf of the Board, unless so authorized.

TRUSTEE DECISION MAKING:

I. Preparation for a Board Meeting

A. General Guidelines

1. Educate yourself
2. Set up system
  - a. For student and understanding
  - b. For follow-up
  - c. To get continuity
3. Establish a study discipline
  - a. Allow time to carefully review each item and ask questions required.

B. Specific Guidelines

As an individual board member studies specific items sent in the board packet, the following are suggested:

1. Is it within the law?
2. Does it follow college policies and procedures?
3. What will it cost in time and money?
4. Is it within the budget?
5. Do I thoroughly understand it?
6. Where can I secure more information I may need?
7. Is it a new practice or program?
8. What has been done before on this issue?
9. What is the current practice and procedure? Where can I find out?
10. What are the advantages and disadvantages of the proposal?
11. What long range impact will it have on the college?
12. How will it be evaluated? What feedback should be received from the administration? How often will it be reviewed?

II. During the Board Meeting

A. General Guidelines

1. Learn how the board operates
2. Understand type of meetings
3. Learn protocol of meetings
4. Learn precedents of the board
5. Learn roles of president versus board.

B. Specific Guidelines

As an individual board member takes part in the board meeting, the following are suggested:

1. Actively participate
2. Provide input
3. Give direction
4. Be objective
5. Interact with the other members of the board
6. Don't speak to the public or press during the meeting
7. Make decisions based on facts and alternatives
8. Don't come to the meeting with a decision
9. Avoid tunnel vision, look to future impact
10. Learn to ask questions to get facts for decision
11. Couch inquiries so as not to appear negative
12. Listen to others; listen to what is said as well as what is not said
13. Respect others viewpoints
14. Weigh others viewpoints
15. Consider issues, not personalities, ignore peer pressure
16. Determine advantages and disadvantages of the issue

17. Should you be particularly interested in an issue and have thoroughly researched it for background, take a position once you have heard others, provide rationale for your position, and try to convince others of your position. However, it is not necessary to try to be persuasive on every point. Trying to swing your fellow board members on every issue will prove counterproductive.
18. Help chair by cutting off debate when all sides of a question have been set forth. There is no need to go “round and round” repeating the same issues; other items on the agenda are also important and by helping to close discussion one can move on.
19. Should you not have sufficient data and need to vote, you may seek to table or postpone for time to seek more data or vote on data presented to-date by fellow board members.

BEING AN EFFECTIVE BOARD MEMBER:

Because board members are in a critical position to share and influence board decisions and actions, it is important that each member keeps informed and up-to-date on issues, legislative activity, and statutes affecting their board.

Attendance:

A board member may forfeit his or her position on the board as a result of poor attendance. Regular attendance is essential so that decisions may more truly represent the opinions of the board as a whole. In addition, regular attendance enables board members to keep abreast of board concerns and helps ensure that issues are examined from a variety of perspectives. The bylaws of your board should define attendance requirements.

Effective board members:

- Attend all board meetings.
- Are well prepared for meetings.
- Recognize that serving the public interest is the top priority.
- Recognize that the board must operate in an open and public manner.
- Are knowledgeable about the legislative process and issues affecting the board.
- Examine all available evidence before making a judgment.
- Communicate well, and actively participate in group discussions.
- Are aware that authority to act is granted to the board as a whole, not to individual members.
- Possess a willingness to work with the group in making decisions.

- Recognize that compromise may be necessary in order to reach group consensus.
- Do not let personal feelings toward other board members or staff interfere with their judgment.
