Most memorable experience at work.

My most memorable experience at work is when we had two groups of 7 and three couples come in at the same time as walk-in as there were only two servers.

There were only two servers, I and another server, and our supervisor. It was an unexpected busy night as there were only 4 reservations a total of 8, and the past few days there weren't any walk-in's thinking the operation would be slow. Though it became busy at this time, it was a crazy rush. It really kept us on our feet trying to assist everyone that came in. The night turned out great yet tiring but all that mattered was that all the customers were happy.

Describe any problem solving experiences at work.

One problem I had encountered at work was when the kitchen was taking a long time to cook the food as my customer was waiting for more than 30 mins. I resolved it by following up on the foods to find out how many more mins and letting the guest know as I apologized for the wait, as they wait I make sure that their drinks are filled, and offering if they would like more welcome breads. Once the food is done, I deliver it right away, making sure they got everything on the tables and all the orders were delivered.
